

2012 NATIONAL
EMERGING ARCHITECT PRIZE WINNER

KELLY RATTIGAN

WESTERN AUSTRALIA

NATIONAL JURY:
BRIAN ZULAIKHA (CHAIR)
DR MARCUS WHITE
ANTHONY BAL SAMO

NATIONAL JURY CITATION:

From a truly remarkable field, from every state of Australia, Kelly Rattigan is this years deserving winner of the National Emerging Architect Prize.

Kelly has made a significant contribution to the profession though her ongoing commitment to education, the Institute, and through her own successful and growing architectural practice.

The Jury was exceedingly impressed with Kelly's substantial array of built work in the aged care, health, drug and alcohol rehabilitation facilities and social housing. She has demonstrated outstanding leadership in advocating for, and providing design for disadvantaged members of the community, particularly indigenous and rural communities, illustrating her admirable "design is for all" theoretical position. Her work for the disadvantaged, where fees and budgets are often insurmountable obstacles to the design and production of architecture, are for Kelly a challenge, rather than an impediment.

Kelly has achieved excellence in architectural practice, and showed initiative, ambition, empathy and leadership in charting new territory through leading both an architectural team and the community. She serves as an exceptionally strong role model for emerging practitioners.

It is with great pleasure the jury has award Kelly Rattigan with the National Emerging Architect Prize.
