MEDIA RELEASE

4 October 2016

The Tasmanian Chapter of the Australian Institute of Architects has appointed the Speaker of the House of Assembly and Liberal Member for Denison, the Honourable Elise Archer MP, and the Labor Member for Lyons, Rebecca White MP, as Chapter Ambassadors for 2017.

“Both Ms Archer and Ms White were invited to take on the ceremonial role of Chapter Ambassador in recognition of their support for the industry and the Tasmanian Chapter and we are delighted that they have accepted,” said the Institute’s Tasmanian President, Brad Wheeler.

“The Institute is passionate about Tasmania’s rich and diverse built environment and we want to work together with those who share our goals and vision to ensure we address the urban challenges facing our communities without compromising the quality of our cities and towns.

“We look forward to working with Ms Archer and Ms White in their new roles as we all strive to achieve reforms that better connect built environment policies and programs across all levels of government to promote globally competitive, sustainable and socially inclusive urban centres and towns.”
